Student Internet Acceptable Use Policy and Agreement

POLICY STATEMENT

Internet access is now available to students and teachers in the Macon County School System. The Internet is an electronic highway connecting thousands of computers all over the world and millions of individual subscribers. The Macon County Board of Education recognizes that computers are used to support and enhance instruction. We believe the Internet offers vast, diverse and unique resources to both students and teachers. Our goal in providing Internet service to teachers and students is to promote educational excellence in schools by facilitating resource sharing, innovation, and communication. Electronic information research skills are now fundamental to preparation of citizens and future employees during an Age of Information. The Board expects that the staff will blend thoughtful use of such information throughout the curriculum and that the staff will provide guidance and instruction to students in the appropriate use of such resources.

Access to the Internet enables students to explore thousands of libraries, databases, bulletin boards, and other resources while exchanging messages with people around the world. Teaching students to navigate the Internet gives them the opportunity to identify and evaluate useful sources of information. In addition to enhancing information literacy, the Internet puts millions of information resources at a child's fingertips. It is amazing to see how young people are using the Internet to learn about the world.

Telecommunications, electronic information sources, and networked services significantly alter the information landscape for schools by opening classrooms to a broader array of resources. In the past, instructional and library media materials could usually be screened, prior to use, by committees of educators and community members intent upon subjecting all such materials to reasonable selection criteria. Because the Internet was not designed with children in mind, classrooms will be open to electronic information resources that have not been screened by educators for use by students of various ages. With access to computers and people all over the world also comes the availability of material that may not be considered to be of educational value in the context of the school setting. The Macon County School System recognizes that on a global network it is impossible to control all materials and an industrious user may discover controversial information. For years educators have worked diligently to create and promote increasing numbers of K-12 resources available on the Internet. We firmly believe that the valuable information and interaction available on this worldwide network far out weighs the possibility that users may procure material that is not consistent with the educational goals of the School System.

To gain access to the Internet, all students must obtain parental permission and must sign and return the attached student authorization form to the school office. Ultimately, parents and guardians are responsible for setting and conveying the standards that their children should follow on the use of the Internet just as they do on the use of all media information sources such as television, telephones, movies, and radio. Macon County Schools do not condone the use of inappropriate materials and do not permit usage of such materials in school environments.

When access to the Internet is granted, it is extremely important that rules be followed. Access is a privilege, not a right, and as such this educational opportunity entails responsibility. Students are responsible for NOT pursuing materials that could be considered offensive. Misbehavior could result in temporary or permanent loss of access to the Internet. Violations may result in disciplinary action up to and including suspension/expulsion for students and termination of employment of employees. When applicable, law enforcement agencies may be involved. It is important that employees, students, and parent/guardians read and understand the following guidelines from the Macon County School System.

STUDENT RESPONSIBILITY

Students using Internet access provided by the Macon County School System must first have the permission of and must be supervised by Macon County's professional staff.

Students are responsible for good behavior on school computer networks just as they are in a classroom or a school hallway. Communications on the network are often public in nature. General school rules for behavior and communications apply.

The network is provided for students to conduct research and communicate with others. Access to network services is provided to students who agree to act in a considerate and responsible manner. Student signature and parent/guardian permission are required. Access is a privilege, not a right, and entails responsibility.

Individual users of the School System's computer networks are responsible for their behavior and communications over those networks. It is presumed that users will comply with district standards and will honor the agreement they and their parent/guardians have signed.

Network storage areas will be treated like school lockers. Macon County School System reserves the right to review, monitor, and restrict information stored on or transmitted via Macon County School System's equipment and to investigate suspected inappropriate use of resources. This includes reviewing files, bookmarks, and communications to maintain system integrity and insure that users are using the system responsibly.
